

Credit card security

Audio transcript

Be security conscious when you shop online. There are three common ways fraudsters can get your details: phishing emails, data breaches and malware.

Protect your details by refusing to share them with anyone who seems suspicious.

Avoid using public Wi-Fi when you can and keep software and virus protection up to date.

Stop the cybercriminals by using passwords with a good combination of upper- and lower-case letters, numbers and symbols.

Finally, keep an eye on your bank statements and query anything that looks unusual.